RE: Supplemental Information about Speed Humps

Liability

The Administration reached out to our insurer, MMRMA, and others to comment on liability concerns related to the installation of speed bumps. No additional coverage is required for any speed humps. Upon the Administration's request, it was also forwarded to a risk control consultant within MMRMA who stated there are no active cases regarding these speed control devices. They must be in 25 mph zones and there must be proper signage. We would also consult a traffic engineer. The Village Engineer has a traffic engineer on staff who can review any proposed location for street humps.
