Mayor Luke Feeney Visiting the White House Today as a Part of Communities in Action: Building a Better Ohio Forum

Mayor Luke Feeney is attending a forum at the White House today to discuss the impacts that recent federal legislation, including the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law (BIL Act), and the CHIPS Act, have had on the community, Southern Ohio, and the state.

“The American Rescue plan and other recent Federal Legislation have put us in a position in Chillicothe and Ross County to make long overdue investments in both our infrastructure and our residents. Today’s meeting and conversations will help to explain the ways in which we as a City are effectively utilizing ARPA funding and engaging our residents to do it in ways that are most important to them. Today’s conversation will help show how important this investment in Chillicothe truly is and how it can be a model for future investments. We will utilize these funds to positively impact the entire community and I am very excited to share our story today,” said Mayor Feeney.

This meeting, “Communities in Action: Building a Better Ohio”, will include other local elected leaders from across Ohio, including mayors of Athens, Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo, Akron, Youngstown, Elyria, Lorain, Lima, and Lakewood. The event will be live streamed, and the community is welcome to attend via the link below.
