50 YEARS FORGED IN IRON

The city continued to celebrate its 50th Anniversary with 50 Years Forged in Iron – an iron pour and free summer concert with Thumpin'. Participants made designs in scratch blocks. Artists Ira Hill and Jesse Blumenthal, along with their crew, heated iron up to 2,300 degrees and poured it into the blocks, creating cast iron works the participants could take home. The evening also included a special iron pour/fire performance. Three bronze plaques commemorating the city's anniversary were created and will be placed at City Hall, the Northglenn Justice Center and the new Recreation Center, Senior Center and Theatre facility. Thank you to everyone who attended – especially those who waited in the rain to pick up their works of art!

VACANT

On June 10, City Council joined City Clerk Johanna Small for the swearing-in ceremony of the city's new municipal judge, Amanda Bailhache.

Bailhache joins Northglenn from the Colorado State Public Defender's Office, where she served as a senior deputy public defender.

Her first day was June 17. We're excited and honored to welcome her to Northglenn!

Work Continues on Northwest OS

Northwest Open Space, the city's largest athletic complex, is undergoing a significant renovation.

Phase I of the project focuses on the central portion of the complex, and includes the addition of a new permanent restroom and concession facility, an expanded parking lot on the south side of the site, a shade shelter, new concrete trails and improvements to the landscaping, irrigation and drainage.

Construction began in late 2018 and is continuing to make progress. While a wetter than usual winter and spring caused delays, significant improvements are progressing quickly with drier weather. Northglenn staff and the contractor are coordinating to complete the northern portion of the site in advance of the work that needs to be completed through the center and on the southern side. This will allow users to have easier access to the fields from the northern parking lot.

Phase I is anticipated to be complete this summer and will provide an excellent improvement to the frequently-used space.

The city has plans for a Phase II and III of the project in the future.

If you are interested or have questions about hosting a NNO block party, contact Officer Jeramie Lund at 303.450.8851 or jlund@northglenn.org.

Adams 12 to Build New Career and Technical Education Campus

► 49,000-foot Facility to Break Ground on July 23; Courses to Include Construction, Science and More

Courtesy Adams 12 Five Star Schools

Adams 12 Five Star Schools launched construction this month on a second Career and Technical Education (CTE) campus. The 49,000-square-foot campus at 126th Avenue and Washington Street is scheduled to open in fall 2020 and will increase CTE opportunities for district students by as much as 80 percent.

The start of construction on the new campus fulfills a promise of the community-supported 2016 Bond Program and the 2018 mill levy override to provide new opportunities for students across the district.

"With the addition of a second CTE campus," said Priscilla Straughn, Five Star Schools chief academic officer, "additional students will have the opportunity to receive a high-quality technical education experience and obtain in-demand skills that lead to post-secondary success."

Northglenn High School students and those who call Northglenn home make up more than 20 percent of students who currently attend Bollman Technical Artist's rendition of the new Career and Technical Education campus, which will be located at 126th Avenue and Washington Street in Thornton.

Education Center in Thornton, a number that is expected to rise with the new campus.

The new campus will offer existing programs such as construction trades, welding, an introductory diesel mechanic course and EMT training. Programming will eventually expand to include criminal justice, forensic science and fire science programs as well as an advanced diesel mechanic program.

The additional campus is not the only CTE improvement in the district, as Northglenn High School will receive nearly $1 million in upgrades to support their popular culinary program.

District, community and business leaders will celebrate the start of construction during a groundbreaking ceremony at 10 a.m., Tuesday, July 23. The public is invited. Email bondinfo@adams12.org to RSVP to attend.

WHAT IS NURA? NURA's primary purpose is to improve commercial areas in Northglenn by eliminating blight and assisting private development and redevelopment projects. Go to www.northglenn.org/nura for more information.

LETTER FROM THE CHAIR

Rosie Garner
2018 NURA Chair

2018 was a monumental year for NURA with the completion of the Huron Center Redevelopment Project. The board has been working on this since 2011, and it was not for the “faint of heart”. With determination, and a lot of patience, the project has been completed and is a “poster project” of how urban renewal can transform communities.

In 2018, NURA paid for 16 business improvement grants and incentives totaling $1.7 million in exterior and utility upgrades to commercial properties. The reinvestment of dollars leveraged more than $12.3 million in private sector project improvements.

Over the past 28 years, NURA has reinvested more than $41 million.

I am sure you will all agree that we have seen substantial commercial redevelopment occurring throughout our five urban renewal areas in the past seven years. The major projects have been the Garland Center, Webster Lake Promenade and now the Huron Center. In just these three projects alone, NURA reinvested $12.3 million to eliminate blight and improve infrastructure and keep Northglenn beautiful.

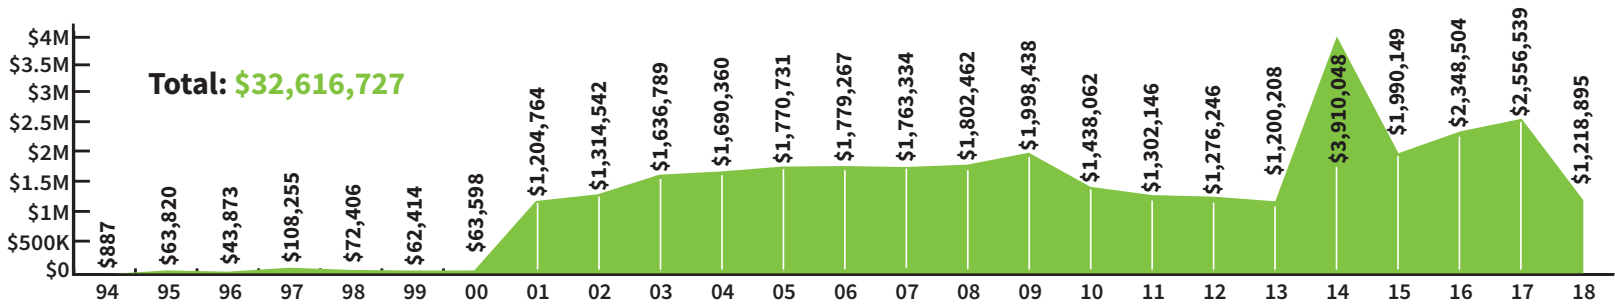

We are working with the owner of the Northglenn Marketplace to revitalize and re-energize the shopping center. In 2019, you will see some exciting movement within the center to include Bed Bath & Beyond moving to the former Borders building, and construction beginning on a new 12-screen luxury movie theater.

NURA’s board and staff are dedicated to improving the commercial properties within the urban renewal areas to revitalize and enhance our community for our residents, businesses and visitors.

On behalf of the NURA board, staff and City Council, thank you for your support!

TIF HISTORY

The chart above shows Tax Increment Financing (TIF) income that NURA has collected over the past 25 years. TIF allows NURA to use the net new property tax revenues to help finance and reinvest in redevelopment and revitalization projects. TIF is a new source of tax revenue generated from property taxes and is not an additional tax.

Support Letters Sought for Civic Center Project

We need your help! The city is seeking grant funds from Adams County Open Space for the outdoor improvements near the new Recreation Center, Senior Center and Theatre.

We would like to enhance the park plaza near Memorial Parkway, as well as add an outdoor patio adjacent to the senior center and another patio adjacent to the swimming pool. These areas will provide gathering places, multi-use pedestrian trails, shade trees, picnic areas, seating, enhancements to the Veterans Memorial, extra lighting and more.

You can help by writing a letter of support that conveys the importance of this project to the grant board. Letters can be submitted to dkester@northglenn.org or by mail to 11701 Community Center Drive, Northglenn, CO 80233.

Construction is scheduled to begin this fall and is anticipated to be complete in early summer 2021.

CATCH OF THE DAY

Mayor Antonio Esquibel and Council Member Julie Duran Mullica congratulated 4-year-old Scarlett Jones and her family for catching the largest fish during the fishing derby at Derby Day on June 1. Jones reeled in a 13.5-inch trout. The city will mount Jones' catch as a trophy and present it to her at an upcoming City Council meeting. The young angler also won a new fishing pole and tackle box. Attendees also enjoyed the Bike Derby, exercise programs and healthy eating and living vendors.
