

TRICKS & TREATS

Thousands descended on Centennial Park for an eerily beautiful afternoon on Oct. 22 for Safe Street Halloween.

The theme was Harry Potter, and City Manager Heather 'Bellatrix Lestrange' Geyer was sent away to Azkaban by Police Chief Jim May and Council Member Rich 'Severus Snape' Kondo.

Visitors were also treated to themed tents from Northglenn High School students, and car trunks filled with candy courtesy of local businesses and organizations.

The Northglenn Police Department presented the event.

Thanks to everyone who attended, and we look forward to seeing you next year!

Major City Wastewater Project Now Operating

► Replacement of Force Main A, Lift Station A Needed

The new Force Main A and Lift Station A are now operational.

The replacement of these two pieces of infrastructure was a major endeavor with construction beginning in March 2021. This was a necessary project and has increased the efficiency and lifespan of the city's wastewater system.

Lift Station A is a four-pump system that collects wastewater and pushes it up through Force Main A, the city's biggest sewer line, on its way to the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Lift Station A, located at East 105th Place and Irma Drive, was replaced with a newer, more efficient, and easier-to-maintain model. The old Force

Main A was abandoned in place and a new pipe was installed from Lift Station A up to 124th Avenue and Claude Court.

The city would like to extend its thanks and gratitude to residents, commuters and businesses who had to manage road construction and temporary water shut-offs.

Mayor's Memo: A Message from Mayor Meredith Leighty

Non-Profits Make Valuable Assets

► Organizations Handle Specific Critical Tasks That Benefit The City

Happy November, Northglenn! This month, in the spirit of thankfulness, I'd like to highlight and honor our wonderful non-profit partners. The City of Northglenn is fortunate to have a multitude of organizations supporting our residents. We are thankful for the services they provide in our community.

Leighty

There are many charitable organizations in Northglenn and this month I'd like to mention four that help families facing food insecurity – the food banks at Immaculate Heart of Mary, Good Shepard Presbyterian and Northglenn Christian Church, along with Food for Hope at Northglenn High School. All four of these groups are able to provide for those in need because of the generosity of volunteers. If you happen to be struggling right now, I hope you seek out these resources. If you happen to have more than you need, please consider supporting them with a donation. ► Starting Nov. 19, you can donate food, toys and more at any one of the city's facilities. See Page 9 for details.

► The Crossroads Community Center had its ribbon-cutting on Oct. 1. Learn more on Page 5.

We are also thankful for our local service clubs – Rotary, VFW, Kiwanis, Optimists, Elks, American Legion and more. These non-profits work to raise funds and also donate time to support projects for the good of the community. Investments in public amenities like parks, volunteering at clean-ups and flower bed plantings, collecting school supplies, providing scholarships, donating food and blankets, and supporting/honoring veterans are just a few of the ways service clubs benefit our community.

Our city government has close ties with three foundations. The Northglenn Community Foundation (NCF), Northglenn Arts & Humanities Foundation, and Northglenn Historic Preservation Foundation all have missions that align with certain city services. Specifically, the NCF supports community needs like utility bill assistance, recreation scholarships, and school supplies. All bring valued support for projects and programs that make Northglenn a great place to live.

Volunteerism is the backbone of a thriving community. I am thankful for these community partners and I also very much appreciate the individual resident that shovels snow for a neighbor, takes a meal to someone recovering from surgery, runs carpool for a parent in need or is just a listening ear to a neighbor in crisis. ► Take a look at some of the city's volunteer opportunities at www.northglenn.org/volunteer.

Thank you to the charitable organizations, the foundations, the local service clubs and the individual volunteers. Our city is better because of the collaboration, the generosity and the drive to take care of others. This is community. This is Northglenn.

– Mayor Meredith Leighty

*This is community.

City Manager's Column: A Letter from Heather Geyer

Welcome New Residents of Karl's Farm

► Cherished Working Dairy Becomes Northglenn's Newest Neighborhood

Our community's newest neighborhood, Karl's Farm, is growing quickly!

► Northglenn earns Economic Development Award For Karl's Farm. See Page 5 for details.

I recently drove through the development, and it is exciting to see years of planning come to life, especially the ways our city, the developer and the family chose to honor the legacy of the land.

Geyer

As the last large open area available for development in Northglenn and with its strong sense of history, it was important to find land uses that felt right for our community.

Northglenn has unique neighborhoods; architecture, history and the people make it special. What made Karl's Farm special? The Hinkhouse family owned the property and started their working dairy farm in 1947, with the country store following a few decades later. Residents and visitors held special memories of picking pumpkins in the fields, special events, milk deliveries in the early morning, their well-known eggnog during the holidays, cows in the pasture and don't forget Zeke and Zelda – the farm's zebra mascots.

What makes this new development a special neighborhood? Karl's Farm was developed in conjunction with input from the family – they wanted a village feel, parks and open space, a focus on seniors and not entirely apartments. The new Karl's Farm incorporates placemaking attributes, such as street names like Zelda Lane, Creamery Street, Dairy Street and Karl's Lane.

The central park is named Pasture Park and has a farm theme. The area's character reflects a common aesthetic and helps memorialize the heritage of activities that once occurred on the property.

Karl's Farm offers broader home choices, new park spaces, easy access to transit, and more retail opportunities that all residents can enjoy.

In closing, I would like to say “congrats on your new home” to all our residents of Karl's Farm, “welcome” to those new to Northglenn, and “glad you

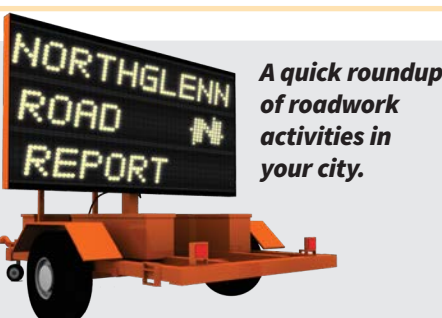

Pasture Park sits in the middle of the Karl's Farm development.

FARM FACTS

- 25.8 Residential acres
- 14.9 Mixed-use acres
- 3.4 Parks and open space acres
- 8.3 Commercial acres for restaurants, shopping, and services
- 11.6 Miles of roadways
- 385 Apartment units
- 178 Detached and duplex units
- 104 Townhome units
- 164 Affordable senior living apartments stayed” to current residents that decided to opt for a new home in our community. We wish you the best and are happy you are here!

– City Manager Heather Geyer

A quick roundup of roadwork activities in your city.

- The Huron Waterline project is about halfway done. One mile of waterline is being replaced underneath Huron Street from 104th Avenue to the south city limit.

This work requires that Huron Street traffic is limited to one lane in each direction and occasionally side streets connecting to Huron Street are closed off. The project is planned to be done in spring 2023.

- Something new has appeared in the area of Varese Lane and Quivas Street in Ward 4 – a sharrow. No, this isn't a species of bird or Tolkien realm. It's a type of line striping for streets and is designated by a riderless bike with arrows on top (see picture, right)

Sharrows designate a lane in the street that is meant to be shared by both motorists and bicyclists – thus the name (arrow + share = sharrow). These lanes are typically in residential areas where speed limits are 25 mph or less. This way, motorists and bicyclists can be expected to go at relatively similar speeds.

So the next time you see a sharrow symbol on the road, keep an eye out for cars and bicycles.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL OF COLORADO

State Award for Northglenn

► Named Medium Community of the Year for Karl's Farm Development

Northglenn was awarded the Medium Community of the Year for the Karl's Farm development by the Economic Development Council of Colorado (EDCC). The criteria for this award is a community between 20,000 and 59,999 residents and have:

- Demonstrated support for economic development such as financial, board participation, or lobbying
- Planning and investment in long-term development of the community such as infrastructure, permanent financing of economic development, or targeted strategies to secure primary jobs
- Special project or development during the nomination year

The property, located southwest of the RTD Eastlake at 124th Station, has held a historical value to the community dating back to 1947 when the Hinkhouse family started their working dairy farm.

From left, Economic Development Director Debbie Tuttle, Council Member Becky Brown, City Manager Heather Geyer and Economic Development Specialist Shannon Fields accepted the award in Pueblo on Oct. 20.

The master-planned community includes 25.8 acres of a wide variety of housing opportunities. Residents will enjoy the 3.4 acres of parks and open space along with the convenience of 8.3 acres of commercial space for restaurants, shopping, and services.

► Read City Manager Geyer's column about the Karl's Farm development on Page 4.

CLEAR SNOW ONTO THE LAWN ... NOT INTO THE GUTTER

Thanks for clearing snow and ice from your sidewalk within 48 hours after the weather clears – it makes your neighborhood much safer!

You might assume the best thing to do with snow on a sidewalk is to throw it in the gutter – then it can travel down into the storm drains.

However, it is better to put the snow onto your lawn – especially next to your trees. That way, they can benefit from the extra water during the normally dry winter.

Snow put in the street or gutter can cause slick roads and ice dams. If you see an ice dam building in the street, please break it up.

Clearing snow onto the street can lead to giant buildups like this.

HELP A NEIGHBOR AND GET A FREE SWEATSHIRT

What are all the cool kids wearing this winter? A Snow Stormers sweatshirt, of course! (See left.)

And you can get yours for free! All you have to do is:

- Return to volunteer with the Snow Stormers program this winter - or -
- Help out as a Snow Stormer for a snow season

Snow Stormers clear snow off the sidewalks for Northglenn residents who cannot physically do it themselves.

► For more details or to volunteer, contact Jenni Murphy at 303.450. 8904 or jmurphy@northglenn.org.

Snow Removal Priorities for Paths and Sidewalks

When it starts snowing, the city begins clearing the over 37 miles of public sidewalks and paths in the Greenway Trail System.

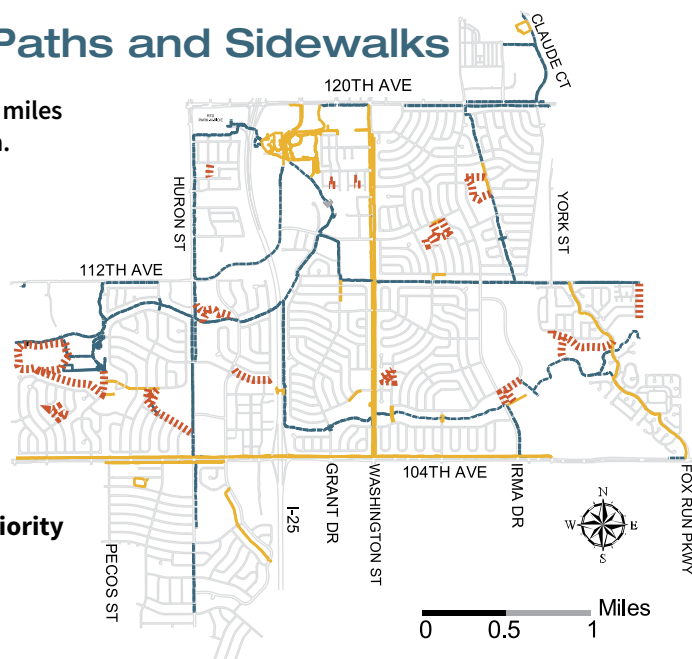

A priority system is in place so the most-used paths, trails and sidewalks are addressed first. These are usually near businesses, government offices, high-density residential areas, schools and school bus pickup areas.

The next priority is paths that are connectors to the city's Greenway Trail System or lead to regional trail systems. The last priority is internal loops in city parks.

The city aims to have all paths cleared 24 hours after the snow has ended, but weather can cause delays. Patience with our snow removal efforts is appreciated.

HOT DOGS & HOTTER DEMONSTRATIONS

North Metro Fire Rescue District celebrated Fire Prevention Week with an open house on Oct. 8 at Station 62 off Huron Street. Activities focused on teaching families how to avoid fires and injuries in the home, how to perform CPR and how to handle cooking fires, which included a live fire demo. Firefighters also gave engine and ambulance tours and sponsored a hot dog cookout for residents.

THANKSGIVING IS FOR FAMILY.
NOT FOR FIRES.

Did you know that Thanksgiving is the peak day for cooking fires? Keep watch on anything cooking at all times, and turn off the heat if a fire starts.

Prepare Your Trees for Winter

Colorado State Forest Service

As temperatures drop, trees in urban and community settings across Colorado go dormant, and they require care before and during the winter to remain in top health. Residents can take measures now and through spring to help their trees, said Dana Coelho, Urban and Community Forestry Program Manager for the Colorado State Forest Service (CSFS).

The CSFS offers the following tips to prepare Colorado's urban trees for winter:

- Wrap the trunk. Thin-barked trees like honeylocust, maple and linden are susceptible to sunscald and frost cracks because of drastic winter temperature fluctuations. To prevent bark damage, wrap the trunks of younger trees up to the first branches using commercial tree wrap. Leave the wrap on until early April.
- Mulch the base. Apply 2 to 4 inches of wood chips, bark or other organic mulch near the base of the tree, but not against it, to reduce soil evaporation, improve water absorption and insulate against temperature extremes. The city's Yard Waste Mulching Center offers free mulch to everyone. ► See story, below right.
- Give them a good drink. Water trees in the area extending from the trunk to the longest branches, known as the drip line. Water slowly, at a rate of 10 gallons per inch of tree diameter. Ample moisture in the ground at the onset of winter sets trees up for success to start growing in spring. Watering conifers is especially important since they keep their leaves all year long and lose more moisture over the winter.
- Focus on younger trees. With less extensive root systems, they require the most care.
- Wait to prune until winter. Late winter is the best time for pruning most tree species, but it can be done whenever trees are dormant over winter. Common reasons for pruning are to remove dead branches and improve a tree's form. Always prune just outside the branch collar (the point where a branch joins a larger one) and don't remove any branches without good reason.

- Water during extended dry periods (e.g., more than two weeks without snow cover), per the guidelines above. The best time for winter watering is warmer days, when the snow has melted and the temperature is above 40 degrees.

Save Energy & Money This Winter

► Natural Gas Prices Going Up Nationwide

Xcel Energy

Xcel Energy encourages customers to plan ahead for heating season and take steps to save energy and money this winter, as energy costs increase nationwide due to higher wholesale natural gas prices. The company's energy savings tips and energy efficiency programs can help you lower your natural gas and electric bills.

The increase in natural gas prices across the nation is caused by continuing supply and demand conditions in the global market. The wholesale price of natural gas delivered to customers or used to generate electricity is paid directly by customers without any cost markup from Xcel Energy. Although higher wholesale natural gas prices primarily affect customers' natural gas bills, you can also save on your electric bills by conserving energy, since natural gas is used to generate electricity.

You can visit a new page at www.xcelenergy.com/WaysToSave to find a one-stop shop with ways to save energy and money, have more stable bills, learn about payment assistance and more.

WAYS TO SAVE ON YOUR HEATING BILLS

- Open blinds to take advantage of the sun's warmth during the day but close them at night to insulate against the cold air outside.

- During winter months, set the thermostat between 65 and 70 degrees while you're home, and 58 degrees when you're away. A programmable thermostat automatically adjusts the temperature based on your routine and could help you save on heating costs.

- A major source of a home's heat loss is from exterior doors left cracked open or not latched.
- During colder months, run ceiling fans clockwise, so warm air is forced down.

- Use your oven light or timer to avoid opening it often while you cook. Each time the door is open, even for just a few seconds, the temperature drops 25 degrees. Put lids on your pots and pans while cooking to speed up cooking time and keep the heat where it's needed most.
- The proper temperature for a water heater is 120°. If you lower it 10 degrees, you can save 3 to 5% on water heating costs.

- Change the filter once a month during the winter to reduce your heating costs by 5 to 15%.
- Affordable window sealing kits can be found in most local home improvement stores and can help you save.

- Have your home evaluated for leaky ducts, drafts around doors and windows, fireplace dampers and other places where air might escape.

Improving the insulation of walls, crawl spaces, floors and heating ducts is one of the fastest and most cost-effective ways to reduce energy costs, saving you up to 10% on your monthly energy bill.

NO TRASH PICKUP ON THANKSGIVING

The city will NOT pick up trash on Thanksgiving – Thursday, Nov. 24.

If your trash is normally collected on Thursday by the city, it will instead be taken away on Friday, Nov. 25. Households that have Friday pickup will still have their garbage and recyclables collected on Friday, Nov. 25. Trash and recycling carts should normally be out on the curb by 7 a.m. on pickup day, but on Nov. 25 it is especially important. The trash and recycling schedule for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of that week will not be affected.

► For more details, please call 303.450.4004 between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. weekdays, or e-mail bsherrill@northglenn.org.

Take Leaves, Branches, to City Mulching Center

► Reduced Hours Starting in December

Changing leaves are great to look at ... but less great to rake and throw away.

Rather than fill up your trash cart, bring those fallen leaves to the Yard Waste Mulching Center. (We'll also accept tree branches, tree stumps and grass clippings. We don't take sod, dirt or gravel.)

The center is open every Saturday through November from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. However, it will be closed Nov. 18, and from December through March, it will only be open on the first Saturday of the month.

Located at the south end of the Maintenance & Operations Facility, 12301 Claude Court, just go through the gate as you enter the parking lot.

Only people who live in Northglenn single-family residences can drop off yard waste, so you need to have proof of residency, such as a driver's license or utility bill with a photo ID.

Much of the yard waste is then turned into mulch that is available to anyone, including commercial businesses. However, you must bring your own shovels, as the city does not provide tools to use.

► Questions? Call 303.450.4004 or go online to www.northglenn.org/yardwaste.
