City Parks Receive Over $1M in Grants From Adams County

On Aug. 9, the Adams County Board of Commissioners (BoCC) awarded more than $18 million in open space grants thanks to the voter-approved Open Space Sales Tax.

This includes more than $1 million for the two Northglenn projects listed below. The city would like to thank BoCC and the Open Space Advisory Board for their generous contributions to these projects!

Kiwanis Pool Rehabilitation
Kiwanis Pool, 550 Garland Drive, has been in operation since 1960.

This project aims to complete the rehabilitation of this aging outdoor aquatics facility by replacing the concrete pool deck and the leaking underground plumbing, modernizing the inefficient filtration system, bringing all electrical components to code, resurfacing the large pool and the toddler pool, and providing additional shade structures and site amenities for participants.

Design work starts this month and construction will take place in 2023.

• Grant Award: $1 million

Rotary Park Pavilion
Rotary Park, located at Pecos Street and Roseanna Drive next to Westview Elementary School, has a baseball field with a backstop and covered dugouts, as well as a grassy area that extends beyond the outfield. There are no other amenities that encourage community members to gather and enjoy the park.

This project would provide additional amenities, including a pavilion on a concrete slab, picnic tables with wheelchair accessibility, trash/recycling containers, and several additional trees.

Matching funds for this project come from a generous donation from the Rotary Club of Northglenn-Thornton.

• Grant Award: $20,000

E.B. RAINS PARK GRANT SUPPORT SOUGHT

E.B. Rains Jr. Memorial Park has long been the epicenter of outdoor fun in the city, and we want to keep it that way!

We have already received funding for the playground – thanks, Adams County Open Space! Now, we are seeking funding for other park upgrades including restroom renovations, trail improvements and other upgrades.

What would really strengthen our request are letters of support from residents, which will be included with the grant application. How often do you use the park? Why would these improvements benefit you?

► Please send letters by Sept. 14 to jmestrovic@northglenn.org, or to Jesse Mestrovic, c/o City of Northglenn, 11701 Community Center Drive, Northglenn, CO, 80233.

- Sat., Sept. 17, 11:30 a.m.- 6:30 p.m.

Historic Honor

► Ceremony for St. Stephen's Inclusion on Register of Historic Places

Sun., Sept. 11, 11 a.m., St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, 10828 N. Huron St.

In 2019, St. Stephen's Lutheran Church was placed on the National Register of Historic Places with assistance from the Historic Preservation Commission.

Now, the community is invited to the unveiling of the marker recognizing its designation. Built in 1964, the building stands out for its unique Neo-Expressionist architecture and incredible engineering.

Designed by Boulder-based architect Charles Haertling, the church's look was inspired by the natural world. It fully exemplifies his distinct design philosophy and is the first of his projects to be listed on the register.

► For more details on the church, go to www.northglennhistory.com.

A Message from Mayor Meredith Leighty

Meredith Leighty

City Partners With Adams 12

► Watch Out for Bikers, Pedestrians; Respect School Neighborhoods

Leighty

School is back in session, Northglenn! We have 13 schools within our city limits – quite a few for our size. I recently had the opportunity to engage with local school principals along with the Police Department. I am proud of the relationship we have built with our schools – the city values and appreciates our schools deeply. We work together in a variety of ways to support Northglenn students, families, neighborhoods and the community as a whole.

On what I consider the “policy” side, we have a council liaison to the Adams 12 School Board; currently I am serving in that role. We also have a youth commission and appreciate local students serving these council-appointed roles to help us identify and address the needs of youth in Northglenn. In addition, Adams 12 leadership is invited to share views with City Council on committees or during meetings when appropriate. A couple of examples of what types of things these connections yield are our city tobacco/vaping laws and a unified message about the value and positive relationships between School Resource Officers (SROs) and schools.

When it comes to “operations,” we work with schools regarding construction impacts (both our impacts on them and their project impacts on our residents), traffic patterns, pedestrian and bike paths, parks adjacent to schools, parking issues near schools, student impacts on local businesses and many other issues. We look at how we can work together to reach the desired outcome. I am so thankful we do not resort to “finger-pointing” as I’ve seen in other communities.

We have great program partnerships with schools as well – youth awards, bike rodeos and giveaways, service projects, recreational athletics and arts, Safe Street Halloween, and support of families in need to name just a few.

Finally, safety is always a priority. The city supports schools with SROs, increased traffic enforcement, response to crimes and emergencies, emergency preparedness, advising on crime prevention tactics and more. Partnering with schools about safety concerns is not only the right thing to do, but also vital to the safety of the entire community.

In closing, a short reminder. Drivers – please slow down, watch for pedestrians, and respect the neighborhoods near schools! Students – be aware of your surroundings and follow the “rules of the road” for pedestrians and bicyclists.

Everyone have a fun, safe school year!

– Mayor Meredith Leighty

UPDATE FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

Adams 12 Focusing on Access, Opportunity, Belonging in 22-23

Gdowski

Community and opportunity draw families to choose Adams 12 Five Star Schools as a place for their children to learn, grow and excel.

As a child, I called the Five Star District home, and as a parent and the superintendent, I continue to value how our district and schools welcome our students and ensure no matter their strengths or needs, there’s a supportive community here for them.

One of our guiding goals in Adams 12 Five Star Schools is to know every student by name, strength and need and to ensure access, opportunity and a sense of belonging for each student.

This is the foundation to elevating student success.

Whether your child is just beginning their learning journey with us or is embarking on their final years before graduation, there’s “a place for you” in Adams 12 Five Star Schools.

In the spring, as we began developing the budget for the 2022-2023 school year, we focused on prioritizing investments that support access, opportunity and a sense of belonging for all students.

This school year, we’re investing in several key areas, including the return of competitive sports in grades 6-8, expanded career and technical education opportunities, staffing for three new programs in special education, and additional support for gifted and talented students. All of these investments align to the district’s strategic plan ELEVATE, which includes the six focus areas of 21st Century Learners, Diverse Learning, Outside-the-Classroom Learning, Safe Schools, Social Emotional Learning and World Class Staff.

We’re glad to offer these opportunities for our students. Welcome to the 2022-2023 school year. We’re excited to provide “a place for you” in our family of schools!

– Chris Gdowski, Adams 12 Five Star Schools Superintendent

Light on the Problem

► City Using Flashing Buoys to Manage Geese Overpopulation at E.B. Rains Park

Picture and a close-up of one of the "Geese Away" buoys in Webster Lake.

Unwanted guests can be a problem, especially when they squawk at everyone and leave messes wherever they want.

In this case, we're talking about the multitude of Canadian Geese who like to perch at E.B. Rains Jr. Memorial Park. They can be aggressive when nesting or watching over their young and they'll go, well ... when they need to go ... which leaves a lot to clean up.

Fortunately, the city has found a humane, minimally invasive solution. Four "Geese Away" buoys have been placed in Webster Lake. The solar-powered amber lights flash every two seconds from dusk to dawn at eye level of the geese, so they can't get a good night's sleep. Already, the numbers at the park have begun to drop to a more manageable number.

Although highly annoying, the lights are not harmful to the geese and not disruptive to other wildlife. Staff reminds you that although the geese are plentiful in the park, they are still wild animals and should NOT be fed by humans.

City Manager's Column

Why Are We "Looking Up"?

Over the last year you may have put stickers on poster boards at an event, participated in an online survey, or attended a meeting or open house in person/virtually about the update to our comprehensive plan.

Geyer

We titled this endeavor "Looking Up! A Vision for Northglenn's Future" to capture how Northglenn is a great place to live and work right now, and that the city is committed to responding to our community and strives for continuous improvement.

In addition to the surveys and input on specific topics, volunteers are serving on a Resident Task Force to look more deeply at issues.

This blueprint for future growth, land use, and development of Northglenn is the basic foundation for local planning. Comprehensive plans are encouraged by Colorado state statute to guide long-range decision-making involving physical development and any city action that is expected to influence development.

We need different perspectives from a cross-section of our community to ensure Looking Up! is meeting the wants and needs of our residents.

A comprehensive plan promotes the community's vision, goals, objectives, and policies, establishes a process for orderly growth and development, addresses both current and long-term needs, and provides for a balance between the natural and built environment.

Cities typically update their comprehensive plans every 10 years. Updates help capture the current sentiments of residents and business owners and reflect their opinions on what the city should strive for in the future.

As I'm sure you can imagine, views on housing, health-care, transit, business areas, open space, water and energy conservation and more continue to evolve. We need different perspectives from a cross-section of our community to ensure Looking Up! is meeting the wants and needs of our residents.

Soon it will be time to put this all together into a draft. There will be an opportunity for final public review, but I encourage you to check out www.northglenn.org/lookingup and look over Page 7 now. We want to include your voice in this process!

– City Manager Heather Geyer

Planning & Development Department staff have been working to gather feedback using maps, questionnaires and an interactive website at www.northglenn.org/lookingup.

CHARGE ME UP

An electric vehicle charging station is located just outside the Parsons Theatre entrance.

► City, Xcel Energy Working to Increase Number of Electric Vehicles in Northglenn

Xcel Energy

In April, council adopted the city's first Electric Vehicle (EV) Action Plan, which can be viewed at www.northglenn.org/ev. The vision is to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and improve air quality through electric vehicle adoption and infrastructure that is inclusive, sustainable, cost-effective and innovative.

The goal is to reach 4,200 registered electric vehicles by 2030, up from 48 in 2020, and the city and Xcel Energy are working together to make this goal a reality.

(Scan the QR Code in the text to learn about each of the programs.)

Electric Municipal Fleet: The city is leading by example and accelerating its transition to an electric fleet with the help of Xcel Energy's Fleet Electrification Advisory Program.

Charging Station and Electric Vehicle Rebates: Xcel Energy customers may be eligible to receive rebates up to $1,300 for EV chargers and wiring costs related to installing a Level 2 charger. These rebates can be combined with state and federal tax credits to support the purchase of a new electric vehicle.

compare costs with a similar gas vehicle, and discover available incentives and tax credits.

Multifamily EV Opportunities:

Multifamily housing site hosts may be eligible to receive Xcel Energy-owned EV supply infrastructure, installation, and maintenance at no cost through the EV Supply Infrastructure Program.

Commercial EV Opportunities:

Xcel Energy also offers EV supply infrastructure opportunities for businesses who want to install public charging and attract potential customers!

HOW DO YOU SEE THINGS LOOKING UP?

More information on the plan is available at www.northglenn.org/lookingup.

A VISION FOR NORTHGLENN'S FUTURE

LOOKING UP! is a comprehensive plan that will guide the actions of the community for the next 20 years.

This policy document will assist elected officials and city staff in making decisions by establishing goals, policies and program recommendations.

The plan will rely heavily on resident input. A vision for the city's future is included. (See and then comment below).

The policies and program recommendations should direct the city towards a future that benefits all residents and celebrates the values the community holds dear.

With this page, the city is seeking feedback on two areas: the Vision Statement and Housing.

Please take a close look and provide feedback through the avenues suggested below.

At any time, you can give your thoughts on the plan at www.northglenn.org/lookingup.

Also - Those who provide feedback are eligible for a $25 gift card through a raffle!

SECTION #1: VISION STATEMENT

A vision statement for what Northglenn's future could be was developed using community input and feedback from the Resident Task Force. This statement will help guide the comprehensive plan-building process.

► Give us your opinion of this vision statement by emailing comprehensiveplan@northglenn.org.

Northglenn is an inclusive, welcoming community that has a unique character as a small city nestled among a bustling metropolitan region. We are an economically sound city that supports residents by offering a safe place to live, work, and play. We celebrate the diversity of neighbors and act as stewards to our environment to achieve a resilient and equitable present and future.

SECTION #2: HOUSING

WHAT HOUSING TYPES WOULD YOU LIKE AND WHERE SHOULD THEY GO?

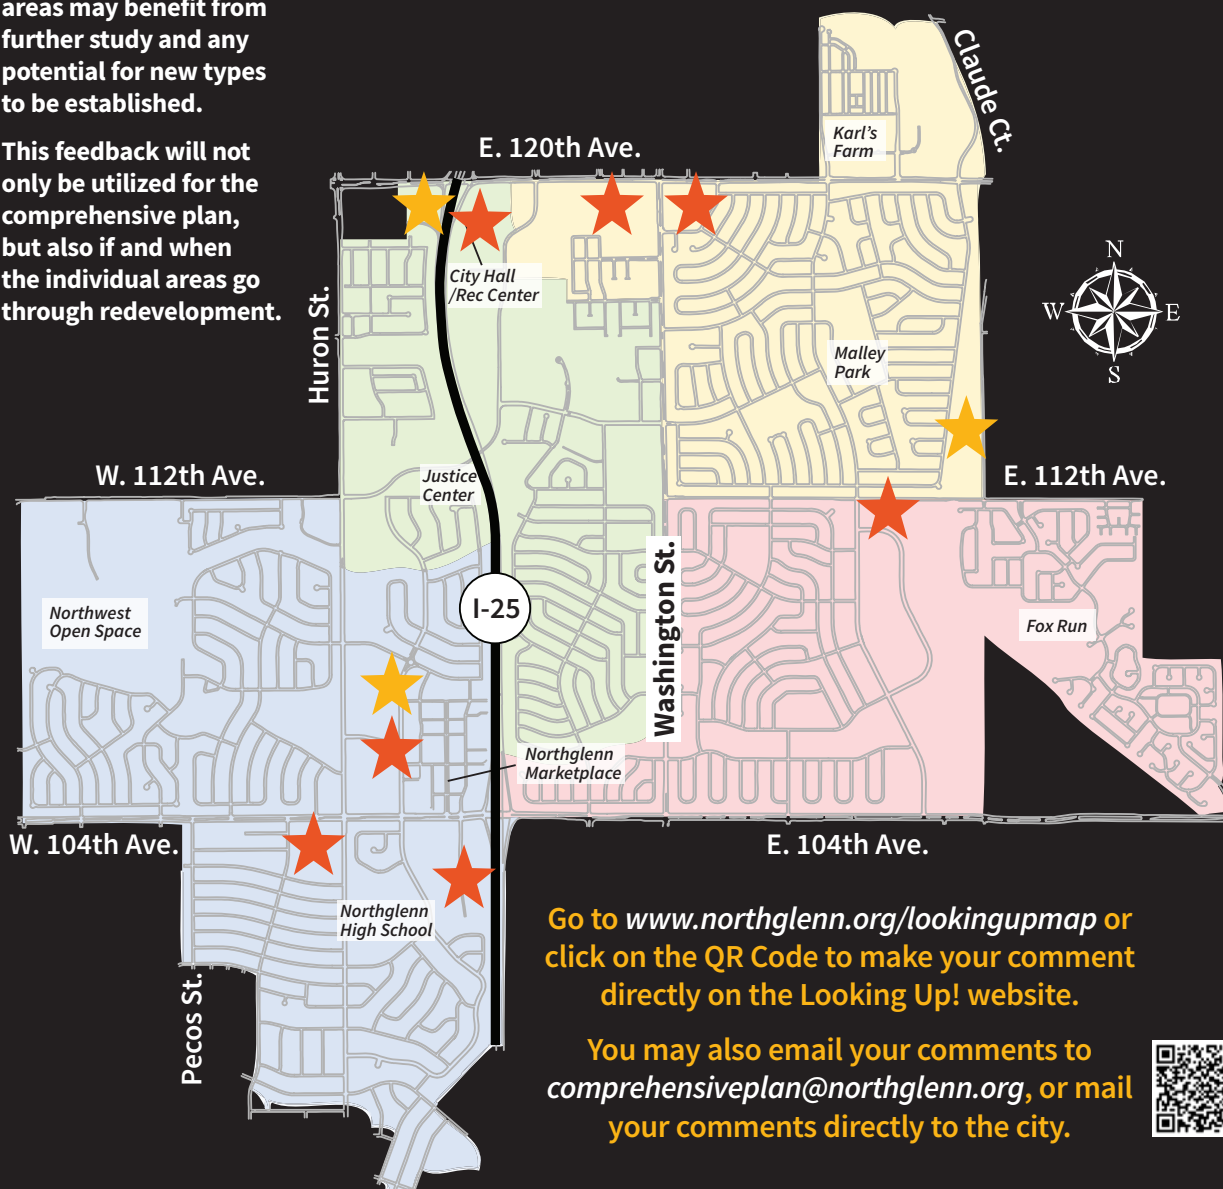

Northglenn is nearly 100% built out. Moving forward the city will rely heavily on redevelopment of existing properties.

Your input on where different types of housing could go will help us determine which areas may benefit from further study and any potential for new types to be established.

This feedback will not only be utilized for the comprehensive plan, but also if and when the individual areas go through redevelopment.

Specific Issues to Consider When Providing Feedback:

- What types of housing could make sense near transit hubs (gold stars ★)?
- Would you like to see more housing – particularly mixed use – in and around the commercial areas (red stars ★)?
- Where would mixed-use make sense?
- Are there any areas that you would like to see a transition from one type of housing to another?

Go to www.northglenn.org/lookingupmap or click on the QR Code to make your comment directly on the Looking Up! website.

You may also email your comments to comprehensiveplan@northglenn.org, or mail your comments directly to the city.

Chief Talk: A Quarterly Message from Police Chief Jim May

Northglenn Not Immune to Fentanyl

May

One drug has been making headlines in the metro area and nationally recently – fentanyl.

Unfortunately, the city is not immune to this scourge, as the Police Department has seen a rise in fentanyl-related instances.

Fentanyl is not new. This pharmaceutical has been around for decades to safely treat severe pain. It is a powerful synthetic opioid that is said to be 100 times stronger than morphine. However, illicitly-manufactured fentanyl comes in a powder form, which makes for easy intake, and even worse – it can easily be mixed with other drugs, which compounds the danger of overdose.

In 2021, fentanyl was the primary cause of 95 deaths in Adams County according to the county coroner. That compares to only 39 in 2020! Increases like this across Colorado are leading to a comprehensive response by communities to address this issue, and Northglenn is playing an active role.

- Thanks to House Bill 22-1326, a person possessing more than one gram of fentanyl can now be charged with a felony.
- Northglenn Police officers are equipped and trained to administer NARCAN, which can help reverse the effects of an opioid overdose.

Over the decades, I've seen the devastation that drug abuse has had on families, which invariably carries on to the community.

What can you do if someone you know has a problem with fentanyl or another illegal drug? Contact the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMSHA) National Helpline 1.800.662.4352. They'll connect you to the needed resources so hopefully we can prevent another tragedy.

– Police Chief Jim May
