

Keep On Truckin’

Food trucks and a carnival...it seems to be a winning combination. Roughly 30,000 people gathered behind City Hall for the inaugural Food Truck Carnival in mid-May. That’s three times more than what was projected. The city would like to thank everyone who attended. We’re looking forward to a bigger and better event next year!

Chickens & Bees Now Allowed in City

Residents Must Turn in Application

It’s official. On May 9, City Council voted to allow chickens and bees in Northglenn. The vote was published on May 19 as is required by City Charter, and the ordinance went into effect five days after publication.

Whether or not to allow chickens and bees in the city first came to the attention of City Council during spring 2015. After a series of public forums and an online public survey designed to gauge interest, rules and regulations were studied and crafted for the city. And now, residential ownership of chickens and bees is allowed.

Those interested in ownership can download an information packet at www.northglenn.org/chickens. To be a responsible chicken or bee owner, there are several considerations, including being considerate of your neighbors.

The city has information packets and applications available at www.northglenn.org/chickens.

Information about licensing, maintenance, and rules and regulations about chicken and bee ownership is included in the packet, as well as a list of other resources.

A license is required for each residence that wants to own chickens or bees. A one-time fee of $25 must be submitted with the license application.

How to apply for a chicken or bee license:

1. Download the application at www.northglenn.org/chickens.
2. If you have questions about chickens and bees in Northglenn or obtaining a license, please call 303-450-8739.
3. Completed applications and the $25 fee are taken at the Building Division front desk in City Hall.

Remember:

- If you live in an HOA community, please check to see if its rules permit chickens and bees. Although the city allows chickens and bees, your HOA may not, and they have authority.
- Chickens only, no roosters!
- Be thoughtful in your decision to keep chickens or bees. They are a big responsibility, requiring continued maintenance and care.
- And, if you do decide that chicken or bee ownership is right for you, enjoy them!

Ralston House Aids Young Crime Victims

The Ralston House is an advocacy center for children who have witnessed or been victims of violent crimes.

In this environment, children can tell their story safely so that police and social service investigators have the evidence they need to take perpetrators off the street.

The cities of Northglenn, Westminster, Thornton, Federal Heights, Brighton, Commerce City, and Aurora; the City and County of Broomfield, and Adams County are working together to build a new Ralston House in Northglenn to better serve our youngest and most vulnerable citizens.

Visit www.ralstonhouse.net for more information.

In Memoriam

The city honored all fallen Colorado peace officers at its annual National Law Enforcement Week Candlelight Vigil on May 11. State and local law enforcement agencies from throughout the region, along with well-wishers from the public, attended the event. The vigil was held at E.B. Rains Jr. Memorial Park, which is named after Edgar B. Rains Jr., the first and only Northglenn police officer to fall in the line of duty.

Slow the Flow in Your Yard – For Free!

The Center for ReSource Conservation is partnering with the city to provide free Slow the Flow Water Consultations for residences with in-ground sprinkler systems.

Just schedule an appointment. The service usually takes 90 minutes and involves a visual inspection, data collection and in-depth evaluation. The technician will provide suggestions to reduce water use and runoff while keeping landscapes and lawns healthy.

Slow the Flow saves an average of 5,000 gallons of water per outdoor watering season for each resident.

For more information or for an appointment, call 303-999-3824 or visit conservationcenter.org/slow-the-flow-2.

Road to Health

Construction work on Grant Street/Community Center Drive just south of 120th Avenue continues. SCL Health Community Hospital of Northglenn builds out a little more each day, while the street itself is repaired and a median installed. Meanwhile, all the businesses at the Webster Lake Promenade remain open. The city would like to thank the motorists and pedestrians for their patience during this process.

Responding to several inquiries by residents, SCL Health will start posting jobs for the new hospital later this summer at www.sclhealthcommunity.org/careers.

New Business Announcements

At the end of April, Northglenn had 928 licensed businesses. Of that total, 722 are storefronts, and 206 are home-based. This year Northglenn has announced 37 new licensed storefront businesses, reporting 86 jobs, and the absorption of 64,598 square feet of office, industrial and retail space.

2015 NORTHGLENN BUSINESS APPRECIATION BREAKFAST AWARD WINNER

Picture a Building Business

■ Weinrauch Photography Grows From Architecture Foundation into Teaching, Events and Social Media

Note: This is the fifth in a series of stories featuring winners from the 2015 Business Appreciation Breakfast.

The foundation for photographer Paul Weinrauch's trade is capturing photos of homes and businesses.

Which makes it fitting that he won the 2015 Northglenn Home-Based Business award.

The owner and operator of Weinrauch Photography, he has built a niche in the area for shooting custom homes and commercial buildings for interior designers, architects and builders.

Boulder County Home and Garden retains Weinrauch as its staff photographer, and publications such as Mother Earth Living, Spin Magazine, 5280 and The Elements of Photography have all featured his work.

And when he's not taking photos, he's teaching photography – or posting online about photography.

At Red Rocks Community College, he presides over different levels of photography courses and a business class designed for artists.

He's also jumped into the world of social media, learning the nuances, benefits and drawbacks of Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and LinkedIn, to name a few.

If you were at last year's July 4th Festival or Pirate Fest, or last month's Food Truck Carnival, you may have caught Paul in action. Some of his work is shown here, as well as on the cover of this month's Connection.

For more on Paul, visit www.youtube.com/cityofnorthglenn and see the 2015 Business Breakfast video.

Grand Re-Opening of Larson Park

The city celebrated achievements and events on May 21 at Larson Park. First was the re-opening of Larson Park, located at East 108th Avenue and Larson Drive. As part of national Kids To Parks Day, event mascot Buddy Bison attended the ceremony, and even helped Mayor Joyce Downing with the ribbon cutting. Kids to Parks Day encourages everyone to bring a child to a local park in our community. Kids can now play on the new "Fossil Hunt" playground, while Mayor Pro Tem Carol Dodge tries out the new outdoor exercise equipment for teens and adults. Finally, the city received its Tree City USA designation for the 26th year. To commemorate the honor and for Arbor Day, city staff planted two new trees in the park.

9th Playful City Honor for Northglenn

Nine in a row. Northglenn was honored as a Playful City USA by national nonprofit KaBOOM!. This is the 10th year for the award and Northglenn is the only Colorado city to have made the list nine times.

The Playful City USA national recognition program honors cities and towns across the country for making their cities more playable.

In addition to the work at Larson Park (see above), the Northglenn Recreation Center pool, locker rooms and restrooms were renovated and sections of the Greenway Trail, the concrete paths that connect the city's parks, were replaced.

The city created a video as part of its Playful City USA application. Check it out at www.northglenn.org/recreation.

"Once again, we'd like to thank KaBOOM! for this honor," said Mayor Joyce Downing. "Having a top-flight parks system is important to our residents. We need to make sure all of them – young and old – have a place to play, relax or recreate."

See the full list of the 257 communities named 2016 Playful City USA honorees or gather more information on the Playful City USA program at www.playfulcityusa.org.

"By integrating play into cities, the leaders of Playful Cities USA are working to attract and retain the thousands of families that want homes in close proximity to safe places to play," said KaBOOM! CEO James Siegal.

Mudapalooza 10

Sat., June 11, 9 a.m., Northwest Open Space, 112th Avenue and Ranch Drive
