

Center arch window of the Riversdale House with a sunburst centerpiece, symbolizing growth and a bright future for the town.

Monarch butterfly to symbolize migration, new residents from around the world, and pollinators and sustainability.

'Three Pathways' through Riverdale Park border, featuring the Trolley Trail, the Anacostia River, and both modern and historic railways.

Tulips to honor the Calvert family's history in the foundation of Riverdale Park, planted continuously on the Riversdale House gardens since its beginning. A symbol of renewal and new beginnings.

Roses to honor the family of Adam Francis Plummer, and his homestead Mount Rose where he united his family after emancipation. A symbol of beauty and love.

Corn to honor the original Piscataway residents of the land, as well as the large Latino community in Riverdale Park. A symbol of abundance.