Riverside: Where Energy Flows

The City of Riverside is excited to unveil a fresh look for our community — a visual signifier designed to drive tourism, attract businesses and accelerate regional growth. This new sub-brand positions Riverside as a high-velocity destination offering an unending flow of exclusive events and unforgettable moments. Here, people don't have to choose between big-city entertainment and small-town soul.

The City will keep its municipal brand and Upstream from Ordinary mantra, with this new sub-brand featured in marketing materials such as commercials, banners, brochures and billboards.

Welcoming Team Oranje

Our Summer of Soccer is Here

From orange banners, crosswalks and fountains to flying their flag at the Welcome Plaza, the City gave Team Netherlands a warm Midwestern welcome when they arrived last month. But the true showstopper is the art display at the temporary park right off NW Gateway Avenue.

In preparation for the tournament, Mayor Kathy Rose reached out to Jeff Parson, owner of Fearless Jack Rabbit Art, and asked him to help to paint the town orange. "She wanted to do something impressive to show the world who we are and welcome international visitors in a way they won't be welcomed anywhere else," said Parson. "To that I said, 'Give me some plywood and Dr. Pepper and get out of my way!'"

After the call, Parson got right to work sketching out concepts for several different displays. It took him three weeks to paint the display that features seven Netherlands players, along with another scene that celebrates both the international tournament and some of Kansas City and Riverside's signature spots.

Though it made for a busy spring, Parson is proud to have completed all the work before the tournament began. "I started doing this because I was tired of the negativity in the world. We need something to bring us all together — that's what art is about. If visitors walk away saying, 'Wow, the folks in Riverside celebrated our team and who we are,' that's worth everything to me."

Yard Tips: $ave On Water Bills

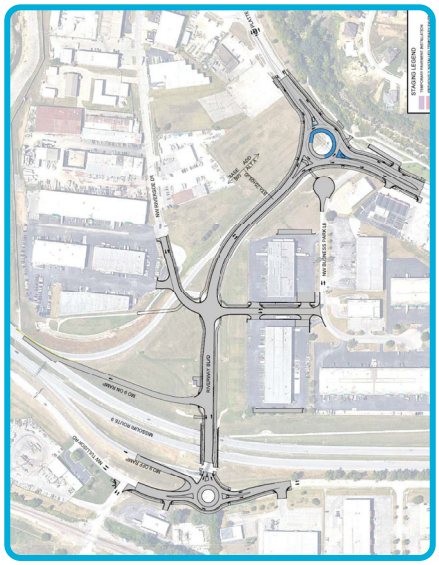

A few outdoor upgrades can help save money on your water bill while reducing excess stormwater and pollutants entering our waterways. Remember: Every gallon counts!

- Install a rain barrel — Capture roof runoff to water plants and lawns, reducing water use
- Use drought-tolerant plants — Replace thirsty grass and landscaping with native species
- Water early or late — Water lawns in early morning or after dark to minimize evaporation and runoff
- Add mulch — Use groundcover to retain soil moisture around plants and reduce watering

Riverway Blvd. Improvement Project Starting Soon

Better Traffic Management Is on the Way

Riverway Boulevard is getting some big improvements that will make the area safer and easier to get around for drivers, walkers and everyone in between. Work will begin in September 2026 and is expected to wrap up the summer of 2028.

Here's what the City has planned:

- A roundabout will replace the traffic light at the north end of the area. This will help traffic move more smoothly and safely.
- The Route 9 on-ramp will be rebuilt to make merging safer and to better manage rainwater runoff.
- New curbs, gutters and streetlights will be added, along with improved sidewalks so that people on foot feel safe and comfortable.
- A confusing double intersection at the south end will be replaced with a simpler setup that gives drivers a clearer view of the road.
- New entrances from nearby businesses onto Riverway Boulevard will make it easier for trucks to turn in and out without any trouble.
- An accident-prone access ramp in the northeast will be removed, clearing up a known trouble spot and improving both safety and drainage.

When the project is finished, residents and visitors will find Riverway Boulevard much easier to navigate. The City is proud to make this investment in the community's safety and future growth. Follow the City of Riverside, Missouri Government Facebook page for more updates as work gets underway.
